VOLUNTARY ANNOUNCEMENT

HSBC TO SELL ITS LIFE AND HEALTH INSURANCE BUSINESS IN SINGAPORE TO ALLIANZ

- HSBC Group has agreed to sell HSBC Life (Singapore) Pte. Ltd. to Allianz for a consideration of S$2.7 billion (US$2.1 billion¹) with completion expected in the first half of 2027, subject to regulatory approval.
- Disposal expected to generate a pre-tax gain of US$1.8billion and estimated up to 15 basis-point increase to CET1 for the HSBC Group.
- On completion, HSBC and Allianz will enter an exclusive 15-year bancassurance distribution agreement through which HSBC will continue to distribute high quality insurance products to its customers in Singapore. On entering the distribution agreement, HSBC will receive a S$0.2bn (US$0.2bn¹) initial lump sum cash payment.
- HSBC is committed to Singapore as an international wealth and wholesale banking hub. Singapore is crucial to HSBC's strategy and is a key focus of investment and growth for the Group.

This announcement is made by HSBC Holdings plc ("HSBC Holdings", together with its subsidiaries, the "HSBC Group") on a voluntary basis.

THE DISPOSAL

HSBC Holdings announces that its indirect wholly-owned subsidiary, HSBC Insurance (Asia-Pacific) Holdings Limited (the "Seller"), has today entered into a share purchase agreement with Allianz Asia Holdings Pte. Ltd. (the "Purchaser") for the sale of 100% of the issued share capital of HSBC Life (Singapore) Pte. Ltd. ("HSBC Life SG") for a consideration of S$2.7billion (US$2.1 billion¹) (together, the "Disposal"). HSBC Life SG is a leading insurance business in Singapore offering a broad range of life and health insurance products.

¹ Converted at a S$/US$ exchange rate of 1.29.

Completion of the Disposal is expected in the first half of 2027, subject to obtaining the relevant approvals from the Monetary Authority of Singapore. On completion of the Disposal, all employees will continue to be employed by HSBC Life SG, which will be owned by the Purchaser, and the parties will work closely together to enable a smooth transition for colleagues and customers.

On completion of the Disposal, HSBC Holdings' indirect wholly-owned subsidiary, HSBC Bank (Singapore) Limited ("HSBC Bank SG"), and HSBC Life SG (which will then be wholly-owned by the Purchaser and renamed following completion) will enter into an exclusive 15-year bancassurance distribution agreement (the "Distribution Agreement", together with the Disposal, the "Transaction"). Pursuant to the Distribution Agreement, HSBC Bank SG will distribute HSBC Life SG's insurance products on an exclusive basis to its retail banking and wealth customers in Singapore. Upon entering into the Distribution Agreement, HSBC will receive an initial S$0.2 billion (US$0.2 billion¹) lump sum cash payment from Allianz reflecting the exclusive terms of the agreement. This will be recognised in the income statement over the term of the Distribution Agreement, along with the contractual variable additional consideration for performance under the agreement.

FINANCIAL IMPACT OF THE DISPOSAL

The Disposal is expected to generate a pre-tax gain on disposal of US$1.8 billion at the HSBC Group consolidated level², to be recognised largely upon completion and classified as a material notable item³. The Disposal would not be subject to tax and is expected to generate an estimated up to 15 basis-point increase to the HSBC Group's consolidated Common Equity Tier 1 ratio⁴, upon subsequent upstreaming of the distributable gain on sale as recognised in HSBC Insurance (Asia-Pacific) Holdings Limited.

REASONS FOR AND BENEFITS OF THE TRANSACTION

The transaction follows the strategic review of HSBC Life SG, which concluded that a sale would be the best outcome for all parties. The Transaction forms part of the ongoing simplification of the HSBC Group as it focuses on increasing leadership and market share in the areas where it has a clear competitive advantage and the greatest opportunities to grow and support its clients.

HSBC is committed to Singapore as an international wealth and wholesale banking hub. Singapore is crucial to HSBC's strategy and is a key focus of investment and growth for the Group.
